
New Hanger Bar System For NuTone® Ultra Silent™ Ventilation Fans

Hartford, Wis., April 21, 2006— The new hanger bar system for NuTone® Ultra Silent™ Ventilation Fans eliminates the need for two-person-installation and is fast, accurate and easy, according to Lynn Mantha, product manager.

Designed for all types of construction, the hanger bar system features captive fasteners that are ready to drive into place – what took three hands now takes two! The preassembled hanger bars save time and money.

The integral bottom locator tabs instantly set the correct mounting height and level the housing between joists perfectly every time, eliminating mistakes. Two sets of mounting holes facilitate flush installation with either the bottom or top of the drywall. The fan infinitely adjusts from a span of 16 inches to 24 inches between joists with hanger bars – meeting individual homeowner needs.

“With no additional framing, the fan easily mounts on all types of construction including standard joist, I-joist and truss construction,” says Mantha. “The fan can be mounted to either the bottom or side of the joist.”

Three easy options for solid four-point mounting are available for all NuTone Ultra Silent Series Fans and Fan/Lights: hanger bars for between-joist installations, mounting flange for direct-to-joist installation and mounting flange with I-joist spacer for direct-to-I-joist installation.
